Uncle Robert:

Hope this message finds you well and enjoying the beautiful May weather.

I went outside for lunch today to sit in the park near the office for an hour or so and couldn't have imagined a more perfect way to spend an afternoon. Over the past year or so I've noticed a deterioration in my ability to see things the way I used to (golf balls, road signs, television, etc.) so I decided I should see the optometrist. After putting my eyes through the gauntlet the doctor emerged with a set of contact lenses, which I now wear from time to time. The difference is amazing.

Nathan, Rachel and I are heading up early Saturday morning once Rachel gets home from work around 7:45 AM. I've been very busy at work and in need of some country air and time away from the sound of printers, keyboards and phones ringing.

Optimistically expecting to arrive around 10:30 AM on Saturday morning. I am calling the house when I leave work to inform my Dad of the travel plans.

See you then,

Donald
